Describe your project accurately and how you developed your idea

This place allows the development of individual and collective autonomy, where new ways of building, working and relating are experienced. In addition, we focus on a real problem such as the consumption of plastic materials and reaffirm the possibility of transforming waste into material resources. The plastic membrane of the pneumatic structure will serve as a support to host collective groups through drawings, compositions and writings to encourage freedom of expression and imagination. In this way, the inflatable structures behave like the organisms of the times of awakening the curiosity of the passer by its lightness, materiality and effect of the surprise, in addition to the sensorial experiences, the properties by the environment and the public space.
